French Levy on Wealth Put Up to Parliament

Boost in Paper
Money Also Asked.

BY HENRY WALES.

Editorial Writers News Service, Inc., April 7.—Premier Herriot's plan to raise 10 per cent of the wealth of France and increase the circulation of paper money to the extent of 4,000,000 francs ($200,000,000) was introduced in parliament today. It was referred to the finance committee of the chamber of deputies and debate on it will begin until tomorrow or Thursday.

On the fate of this forced loan—a successive capital levy, which as to date protection even members of the government are unable to make any calculations—also rests the fate of the new government, and perhaps the social structure of France.

As soon as the bill is reported out of committee the opposition is expected to mount a violent attack to overthrow it.

French Watchers Outside World.

It is reported that Premier Herriot will delay the debate to learn the reaction in the United States, England, and other countries to the capital levy proposal and ascertain whether it will not be the immediate weakening of the franc in the people try to send their wealth from the country or invest heavily in foreign securities.

French trade has been pretty stimulated at around 19.50 to a franc. The Morgan $100,000,000 loan has been used to support it.

It also admitted in the bill introduced by Finance Minister De Monie that the Bank of France already has doubled the legal limit of emission of francs—$1,000,000,000 francs ($3,000,000,000) to $1,500,000,000 francs ($3,500,000,000) and nearly 42,000,000 francs ($12,000,000,000) is now in circulation.

"Inevitable Enthusiasm."

When the debate on the De Monie plan is opened the Socialists will vote in favor of the plan for a levy on all capital, thus enunciating the principle. When that is done, the Socialists will rally to the support of the government's camouflage levy, "inevitable enthusiasm," it is called.

De Monie told the chamber that every one must give at least one cent of his fortune.

One of the bills says: "The treasury of finance is authorized to accept, in a special section of its public debt book, these bonds will give a 5 per cent interest."

On Good Paper.

Those carrying three indorsements of the O. K. of the Bank of France will be entitled to a refund of their income tax receipts, but this will not be done for a period of a year.

Contributors may base their income tax returns on a platform of non-resistance as compared to Mayor Parsons' definite opposition to Sunday movies.

As for the movie question, Mr. Bartlett, the son of Charles T. Bartlett, the son of Charles T. Bartlett of Evanston, municipal contractor, was city treasurer from 1918 to 1919. He is associated with his father in the contracting business and has been living with him since the death of his wife on Armistice day at the Bartlett residence, 327 Greenleaf street, which the family moved into in 1917.

Graduate of Cornell.

Evanston's new mayor is 51 years old; attended Northwestern university for two years; was graduated from Cornell university and received his law degree from the Chicago College of Law.

"I want to thank my friends," Mayor-elect Bartlett said last night, "who have worked so hard for me in spite of the propaganda that was put out against me. I purpose to give the city a business administration. I am just as much interested as any native born Evanstonian in preserving the traditions and ideals of Evanston as consistently as possible."

"But people should remember that Evanston has doubled in population during the last ten years and the electorate which first elected Mr. Parsons have added many new voters."

Both Edith Kingdon and Edith Riley were of the stage.

"It all goes back to Frank's personal hatreds and bitterness," William Wallace, of counsel for the trustees, declared.

EVANSTON AND OAK PARK SWAT SUNDAY MOVIE

Bartlett Mayor of North Suburb.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

No Sunday movies for Evanston or Oak Park. The defeat, for the first time in ten years, of Evanston's mayor, Harry P. Pearson. An Oak Park landslide for the present village scraps on record.

That's the story of the ballot boxes in the two communities, whose campaigns over the question of Sunday movies attracted wide attention and caused two of the liveliest local scrapes on record.

Evanston, in its record municipal election vote of 17,350, yesterday swatted the Sabbath cinema by an estimated 3,138 registered against the proposed ordinance. On the basis of returns from 15 of the 31 precincts the "Yes" and "No" vote lined up this wise:

No—2,957.

Yes—2,958.

THREE ALDERMEN ARE DEFEATED

Six New Ones Elected to Council.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Selection of the new city council was completed by the voters yesterday with the exception of the Twenty-third ward, where a special election will be ordered to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Ald. Joseph O. Kostner.

Three present members of the council were retired. They are Ald. Timothy A. Hogan of the Eleventh ward, who was defeated by John P. Wilson; Ald. Frank J. Tomaszek of the Thirty-ninth, who was defeated by Frank R. Ringa, and Ald. Harry W. Klinke of the Forty-seventh, who was defeated by John J. Hoellen.

New Members of Council.

In addition to these three and to the two new men chosen in the first election in February, Bert A. Cronson of the Fourth and Eugene L. Nusser of the Thirty-sixth, these new faces will be seen on the council organization.

Robert E. Barber, who defeated C. S. Riley in the Seventeenth; Albert F. Loscher, who won against Richard C. Mater in the Forty-fourth, and Francis L. Boutilier, who defeated Willard H. Cornwell in the Forty-eighth.

Eight sitting Democratic members of the council won their places again yesterday, thus assuring the organization in the city a hand a strong majority.

Thompson Wins.

The two Thompson standard bearers, Richard Maser in the Forty-fourth and Ald. Klinke in the Forty-seventh, were easily beaten. Edward Schneider in the Eighth, who is said to have Thompson support, came close to winning against Ald. William D. Mayorga. There was a difference of only 728 votes here in a total ward vote of more than 20,000.

One distinct surprise of the day was the defeat of Ald. Hogan. Wilson won by 1,245 votes. He had the support of the faction headed by James O'Brien, former saloonkeeper at Halsted and 224, where policeman Burke was killed. Wilson's supposed identification by a witness, agents to a member of O'Donnell's gang running guns, apparently helped him in the ward.

The Twelfth ward was the scene for another surprise. Ald. Edward J. Kostman, a Republican, won by 1,771 votes over John G. Falush, a Democrat.

The closest of all the ward fights was in the Forty-first, where Ald. Christ J. Jensen need out John W. Chapman, vigorous young campaigner, by only 216 votes. Their probably will be a runoff.

The eight aldermen to win their seats are: Ald. William D. Mayorga in the Eighth; Ald. Kostman in the Nineteenth; Stanley K. Thompson in the Thirty-first; John J. Nealis in the Thirtieth; Harry W. Klinke in the Forty-second; Frank E. Maser in the Forty-third; Ald. Edward J. Kostman in the Forty-fourth; Ald. Joseph E. Smith in the Forty-fifth; and Ald. William H. Morris in the Forty-sixth.

U.S. ELECTION OFFICIALS ON FRAUD REPORTS

Police Hunt Slugger of Woman Worker.

Aftermath of the aldermanic election ordinance election yesterday officials of half a dozen polling places were being questioned at the election commissioners' offices on allegations of fraud and the police were looking for a man who slugged and wounded one woman poll worker.

Two more or more reports of alleged frauds during the day were telephoned to John Rush, chief clerk to the commissioners. But investigation was in most cases to develop mere noise.

Charges Hit Election Judge.

The most serious charge came from the 29th precinct of the Forty-second ward, located at 1816 North Wells street. Acting upon a telephone tip, investigation learned, it is said, that John P. Burke, 1904 North Wells street, a Democratic election judge, was left in sole charge of the polling place from 9:30 o'clock to 11, during which period Burke is charged with having written in the names of more than 100 voters from the poll list and to have deposited as many ballots in the boxes.

Hold on Ball.

Burke denied the charges to Attorney George B. Fleming, representing the country, but a formal complaint was filed against him and he had to pay a $1,500 bond. Other officials of the precinct were severely censured for leaving Burke alone and were held in court before County Judge Joseph J. Coughlin on Friday.

Another man arrested during the day was James Vinci, a chauffeur, who has links several years ago with the leader of Moynihan, labor leader. Vinci was found him with a revolver in the possession at 27th and Wells streets. He was locked up at police station.

George Witt, 20 years old, 2841 North Central Park Avenue, was arrested on a charge of attempting to vote under assumed name at the twenty-second ward, the Thirty-second ward, another taken into custody on the same charge was Frank Dill, 1970 North Hermitage avenue.

James H. Committee man.

It is declared he had been instructed by Paul Pocockay, Democratic precinct committee man for Ald. James Smith, to vote under the name of William Read, who is dead. Pocockay denied the charge.

The woman assaulted was Mrs. Barbara Wilson, 30 years old, a worker in John P. Wilson's aldermanic campaign office at the Belmont Apartments, 1000 North Dearborn. She was found dead and unconscious in the room in the rear of her home at 1107 Dearborn Avenue. Her throat was disengaged and she had been hit by a heavy blow upon the head. A handkerchief stuffed into her mouth left the color of other.

Bear of Mail Box Stuffing.

All officials of the Tenth precinct, Twenty-seventh ward, at 6111 West Madison street, were ordered to the election commissioners' office for questioning upon information indicating box stuffing.

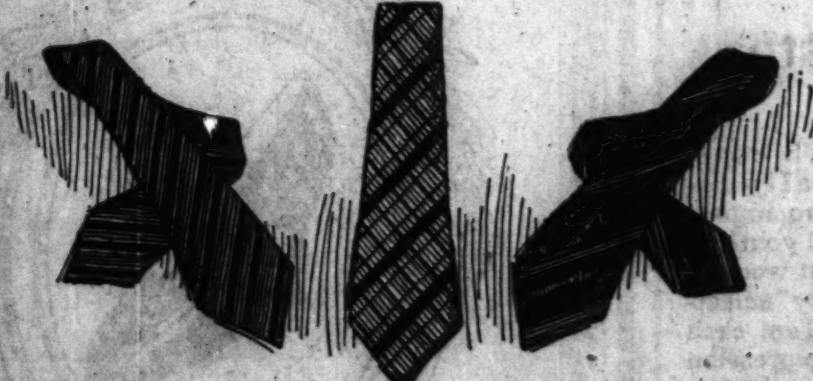

On the charge of the theft or attempted loss of a package containing 200 ballots while in transit from the mail hall to the Tenth precinct, Twenty-seventh ward, at 610 O'Brien street, was reported. A new supply of ballots was sent and an investigation begun.

Seize Milwaukee Ad Man as Police Slaying Suspect

Robert Owen, 27 years old, an advertising salesman formerly employed by a Milwaukee newspaper, was arrested in Austin last night as a suspect in the murder of a police officer Saturday night. Owen was traced to the home of Thomas Foy, in Austin, through a telephone call he made from Milwaukee after the murder. He had been rooming there several weeks with his wife and sister-in-law, Minerva Jacobson. He denied knowledge of the murder except that he had read of it in the newspapers.

CANDIDATE OF YOUNG BERWYN EDITOR VICTOR

That Archer St. John, boy editor of the Berwyn Tribune, was not kidnapped and shot Monday, but purposely absent himself to create sentiment against Mayor Fred Rudderham, was an opinion in the suburb yesterday, particularly by his foes.

But whether St. John was really kidnapped by political enemies afraid of his fiery editorials, Mayor Rudderham went down to defeat as the people's ticket captured most of the offices and placed Frank Janda at the head of the city government.

The election was hotly contested, and there were many fist fights during the day. A warrant was sworn out for Frank Nossel, town clerk, after he had punched Charles Trader, a deputy clerk.

It was charged that Nossel had withheld registration books in some wards to help the candidacy of Janda.

ORDINANCE DUE FOR COURT SUIT, SAYS SULLIVAN

Boetius H. Sullivan, son of the late Democratic leader, Roger C. Sullivan, and who had financed, quite largely, the fight against the defeated traction ordinance, said last night:

"I congratulate the people of Chicago upon their victory. Had the ordinance passed there would have been filed papers already prepared in my office which would have sought an injunction against its enforcement. The thing to do now is for the people as the owners of the streets to decide upon the terms on which they will rent these streets, ever mindful we own the streets, and that for the sake of equity as well as for our own selfish interests we should be fair to their tenants."

Mr. Sullivan is a member of the law firm of Cooke, Sullivan & Ricks, attorneys for the Insull interests.

DOROTHY HURLS WATER; CREATES SCENE IN COURT

San Francisco, Cal., April 7.—Dorothy Ellingson, 17 year old matricide on trial for her sanity before a jury, interrupted the proceedings this afternoon by hurling a cup of water at her attorneys and denouncing them bitterly.

"You can't talk about me like that," cried the girl, smashing a bottle of sparkling salts on the table. "Wait until I take the stand and tell about it." She then wept, and Judge Loughback ordered a brief recess.

The outburst came during the cross examination of Edward F. Twitchell, a prosecution alienist, who had testified that he considered the girl sane. Sylvester J. McAtee of defense counsel, had been asking the witness about the incidents surrounding the death of Mrs. Anna Ellingson, whom Dorothy shot after a quarrel over the girl's night life.

REPUBLICAN IN LEAD FOR MAYOR OF ST. LOUIS, MO.

St. Louis, Mo., April 7.—Victor J. Miller, Republican, and William L. Iggo, Democrat, were running neck and neck tonight in the race for mayor of St. Louis.

Despite a normal tendency of the city to vote a Republican majority, Iggo, former congressman, and chairman of the state Democratic committee in 1922, gradually cut down an early lead by Miller, deposed president of the board of police commissioners. In 446 precincts out of 634 the vote was: Miller, 75,419; Iggo, 76,485.

Lead by 17 to 1.

New Orleans, La., April 7.—Early returns from today's municipal election indicated that Martin Behrman, Democratic nominee for mayor, and his entire ticket was polling a ratio of about 17 to 1 over the Republican ticket headed by Lionel J. Gottschalk. This was the first time in many years opposition was offered the nominees of the Democratic party.

COUNTRY TOWNS AND TOWNSHIPS PICK OFFICIALS

Republicans Carry All of Cicero Offices.

Townships and several villages in Cook county held their spring elections yesterday.

In Cicero the Republicans carried every office. The two principal ones at stake were those of police magistrate and trustee. Henry J. Sandusky was elected to the former office and George Stedronsky was elected police magistrate.

In Rich township half of the twenty-eight votes cast in the election for justices of the peace, constable, and a school trustee were declared defective by the election judges and thrown out.

The fourteen votes were declared defective because instead of writing in the name of the voter's favorite candidate, voters had merely marked a cross.

Voters Out in Force.

In Palos and Elk Grove townships the voters came out in force. A proposed levy of 66 cents on each $100 valuation in Elk Grove township lost by a close vote. A like proposition was approved by the voters in Palos Park.

The following officers were elected in Cicero, River Forest, Winnetka, and Berwyn:

Names Found on Vice Ring Books Are Kept Secret

Patrons Escape Publicity —Danger Not Over.

Chicagoans who have reason to fear their names appear upon the carefully kept books of the Torrio-Capone vice ring, now in custody of the state's attorney's office, yesterday underwent a period of suspense and probably will undergo another one today.

Police executives and assistant state attorneys spent the day yesterday in the books seized Monday night in a luxuriously furnished suite of offices at 3144 South Michigan avenue, and when the day was done not a single name of the many prominent persons said to be in the records was made public.

Today Chief Collins and his subordinates in charge of the case will appear in Municipal Judge Hayes' court in response to a subpoena duces tecum to show cause why they should not return the records and accounts to the place whence they came.

Code Used in Records.

While most of the ledgers and other bookkeeping paraphernalia gave conclusive proof of wholesale law violation, it was found that many of the transactions were camouflaged through the use of initials. For instance, a disorderly house was listed as "B" and "No. 1," with the full name of the women inmates, together with their individual earnings, given in certain given business periods. In some deals the bookkeepers of the illicit syndicate were more specific. Names, addresses, and telephone numbers of numerous wealthy嫖 customers are listed, together with the quantity of their purchases and the unit price.

A new angle was sought by operators from the Bureau of Investigation, who today will search the records for evidence of transactions involving goods stolen from interstate commerce.

State Income Tax Data.

Today, too, agents from the office of State Auditor Michael Reinecke, collector of state revenue, will audit the books to determine the amount of income tax paid by the state's citizens. The government assumes the same attitude toward state enterprises as it does toward large corporations. We have won every election since the civil war when the tariff was the paramount issue. I predict that if the tariff is revised upwards as now demanded by the textile manufacturers with the apparent consent of Chairman Butler of the Republican national committee, the result will absolutely assure our control of the next house."

FOUR PERSONS DIE, VICTIMS OF SPEEDING CARS

County's Death Toll Is Raised to 170.

Add four more lives to Chicago's daily toll to speed. The total for 1925 is now 170 deaths.

Edward Turner was only 3 years old. He tried to thread the stream of traffic yesterday in front of his home on 122nd street but an auto truck lumbered over him. He was killed instantly. Henry Barton, 2328 Lyndale avenue, the driver, was arrested pending an inquest today.

A Thornton township high school boy, Henry James, 13 years old, of 1515 Lexington avenue, Harvey, died of injuries received Monday when his motorcycle collided with a truck owned by the National Transit company of Chicago.

From the President's speech, I take it that he wants to go to the country on the Fordney-McCumber tariff law," said Mr. Oldfield. "The Democrats accept this challenge gladly. We have won every election since the civil war when the tariff was the paramount issue. I predict that if the tariff is revised upwards as now demanded by the textile manufacturers with the apparent consent of Chairman Butler of the Republican national committee, the result will absolutely assure our control of the next house."

OLDFIELD DARES G. O. P. TO RAISE TEXTILE TARIFF

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—A challenge to the Republicans to revise the textile tariff upward, was issued today by Representative Oldfield, [Dem., Ark.], chairman of the Democratic congressional committee. Any increase in tariff duties will insure winning the next congressional election by the Democrats, Mr. Oldfield declared. President Coolidge's defense of the protective tariff principle was criticized by the Democratic congressional chairman.

From the President's speech, I take it that he wants to go to the country on the Fordney-McCumber tariff law," said Mr. Oldfield. "The Democrats accept this challenge gladly. We have won every election since the civil war when the tariff was the paramount issue. I predict that if the tariff is revised upwards as now demanded by the textile manufacturers with the apparent consent of Chairman Butler of the Republican national committee, the result will absolutely assure our control of the next house."

Two Robbers Grab $1,650 from Store Manager

Two robbers yesterday grabbed a bag containing $1,650 from D. H. Walsh, manager of a Woolworth store at 6314 South Halsted street. He was about to enter the Chicago City Bank and Trust company building, 6223 South Halsted street. They escaped in an automobile.

Two Gem Robbers Are Held to Grand Jury

James Chilton and Major G. Arnold, dapper and suave, got into the home of Mrs. Erma Fall, 556 Aldine place, on pretense of delivering a package. Then they stole jewels worth $1,400. "I'll deliver a package now," Judge Harry F. Hamlin told them yesterday as he held them to the grand jury.

LILY WEDDING FOR BRIDE, 50, BRIDEGROOM, 21

Better Old Girl's Darling than Flapper's Slave.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Exit the girl who would rather be an old man's darling than a young man's slave.

James Weaver, 21 and handsome, an elevator operator in the Auditorium building, has stolen the thunder of the independent maid. His yesterday obtained a license to wed Mrs. Mrs. Mrs. Campbell, 50, of 1202 Magnolia avenue, his landlady since his advent in Chicago last November.

"And he told me," said the bride to be yesterday, "that he'd rather be an old girl's darling than a young girl's slave."

To Wed Amid Lilies.

As unusual as the ages of the pair are the plans for the wedding. No stuffy little room, hastily decked with a few sparse and expensive blooms will do for this bride. She has chosen to be married at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in the conservatory at Garfield park, where the Easter lilies are in bloom.

Unusual.

A visit to the conservatory at Easter time last year so inspired Mrs. Campbell, who styles herself "a dishwasher and a poet," that she wrote a poem comparing the conservatory to a place of worship, where she felt herself of offering spiritual homage as she might have done in a church. And when

SURGEON RETURNS TO CHICAGO AFTER TRIP IN MEDITERRANEAN

Dr. Arthur D. Bevan, chief surgeon of the Presbyterian hospital, has returned to the city after a pleasure trip around the shores of the Mediterranean. His trip included visits to many of the oldest medical centers of the world. According to the doctor, modern Italian medicine has lagged behind, but recent impetus has caused greater interest there, with the result that much good work is being done.

During his trip he visited many French schools, where he was impressed with the system of medical education being employed.

The youthful Mr. Weaver offered his hand and heart they decided that the conservatory was the ideal place for the wedding.

Her Chief Poem.

Before her marriage to her first husband, who was killed in an accident eight years ago, Mrs. Campbell wove the muse and composed a poem of considerable length, entitled "The Silver Serpent," which critics of the day highly commended.

A visit to the conservatory at Easter time last year so inspired Mrs. Campbell, who styles herself "a dishwasher and a poet," that she wrote a poem comparing the conservatory to a place of worship, where she felt herself of offering spiritual homage as she might have done in a church. And when

EVANSTON AND OAK PARK SWAT SUNDAY MOVIES

John at Davis street and wheels him to Benson avenue in the regulation election bet wheelbarrow.

Out in Oak Park there was no contest for the office of village president, and William McPeely, the present incumbent, was re-elected handily.

L. Harig was reelected village trustee, and two new trustees who went in were Duncan L. Boden and E. P. Keigher.

The Citizen's Civic Welfare party put in the following Justices of the Peace: James M. Feron, Frank F. Aring, Martin H. McGrath, Louis S. Gibson, and William P. Churchill. Miss Helen M. Chase, who ran as an independent candidate, was defeated on a two to one ratio.

The five Civic Welfare party candidates for constables and the two independent park commissioners were unopposed. The elected constables are Edward W. Pierce, John J. Harvey, Elmer D. O'Connell, Charles B. Pickett, and Andrew E. Nelson. The park commissioners are Arthur D. Rehn and Louis E. Benson, who were elected members of the library board.

Miss Hazel E. Krauth, one of the leaders in the fight against Sunday movies, for which her father, Harry E. Krauth, was working energetically, declared last night that it was "the most marvelous feeling I have ever experienced" this business of being on the decisively winning side.

BABE'S FINGER PRINT REVEALS FATHER, THEORY

OSLO, Norway, April 7.—[United News.]—The paternity of children may be determined by the resemblance of a child's finger prints to those of its father, according to Prof. Christine Bonnevie of Oslo university. Miss Bonnevie undertook the research which she believes has established her finding of a theory to protect mothers.

Solomon's dilemma when confronted with two claimants for one babe is the most famous instance of questioned parentage, but cases involving the same principle occur every day in Europe and the United States. The Stillman case, which hinged on the identity of the father of baby Guy Stillman, who was said by James Stillman to be the son of an Indian guide, could have been adjusted quickly by Miss Bonnevie's technique.

CHARGE WOMAN KIDNAPED CHILD TO GET REVENGE

New York, April 7.—Mrs. Mary Jones, held yesterday in $100,000 bail on a charge of kidnapping 5 year old Raimonde Von Maluski Jr., will be tried April 22 on a charge of petty larceny made by the missing boy's father, it was announced today.

Von Maluski charged the woman with stealing a stick pin and a small amount of cash from his apartment. Mrs. Jones was accused of kidnapping the boy's disappearance on suspicion that she kidnapped him as a revenge against his father for causing her arrest.

Scores of policemen searching since March 29 have failed to find any trace of the boy.

CZECH TAXES ON CATHOLIC HOMES AROUSE PROTEST

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]—PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, April 7.—The Catholic party of Czechoslovakia protested strongly today when the city council passed tax measures which discriminated sharply against adherents of this faith. Under the new law parents of Catholic children must pay 47 Czech crowns—about $3 as yearly religious taxes, while parents of members of the national church pay 17 crowns, parents of members of the Czech brotherhood 13 crowns, and parents of children of Jewish faith 14 crowns.

Finding themselves in a hopeless minority, 100 members of the council left the room before the vote.

There are now conflicts between Protestants and Catholics over the religious question, which has been growing more bitter daily.

THE ORDINANCE BEATEN.

The traction finance has met defeat. Of the 46,000 votes cast in the referendum, the ordinance received only 22,000. It offered Chicago, as we believe, a sound method of uniting and developing the existing transportation lines and of building subways at once. The city is not likely to obtain a better bargain than was contained in the Dever ordinance. Yesterday's defeat may mean that a generation must pass before the city's needs are met. If that is true, the news on the front page this morning is bad news, indeed.

But it is not hopeless. The city refused a good bargain, but in doing so the citizens acquired a considerable amount of education in traction matters. The ordinance was a highly complicated legal document. It was difficult even for some lawyers to understand it in all its implications. This is inherent in the subject, which is a complicated one. The voters were puzzled by its technicalities. Many were falsely persuaded that high fares and graft were concealed in its web of words. This was not the truth.

Mayor Dever and his associates may be defeated this morning, but it is not in the mayor's character, we believe, to hope for long. He may be content to avenge himself upon those of his lieutenants who failed to support his measure. That would be human nature, it may be salutary for his party, but will not of itself improve Chicago's transportation facilities. Mr. Dever had hoped that a transportation solution would be the crowning achievement of his administration. It has been his principal concern in the first two years of his term. There remains two years. Mr. Dever is not likely to permit his one defeat to be decisive. He has two years more in office and the surface lines have two years more before the receivership closes down upon them. Time remains to draft a new and simpler ordinance in the light of yesterday's failure, and to present it to the voters in time to defeat misrepresentation. To this task the mayor may well devote himself.

As things are left, we have an inadequate transportation system and have not even a plan to modernize it.

DETROIT WANTS ITS BEER.

An Editorial of the Day in an adjoining column This TRIBUNE prints an editorial from the Detroit Free Press on prohibition as it is and as it isn't. The Free Press is described as the leading Republican newspaper published in Michigan and we consider it the vigorous antiquity of ninety-four years of publication.

What the Free Press says of prohibition is true in every community in the United States which does not want it. The evils of evading or breaking a law which is not wanted and consequently not respected are apparent on every hand. The Free Press has been long enough in seeing it but better late than never. And yet Detroit should worry or maybe it should.

Across the river is Windsor, Ontario, and the Ontario legislature has passed a 4.4 beer bill in committee. The British-American Brewing company and the Walkerville Brewing company both say that the four point four beer is already being brewed and will be ready for the market as soon as the law goes into effect.

It will be five cents a glass in Ontario and fifty cents in Detroit. That causes a number of Detroit citizens to think that a little home across the river is indicated. One glass pays the ferry and ten a day will buy the home.

Detroit is the new wonder city of the country. It doubled its population in ten years. In 1920 by the federal census its metropolitan district had a population of 1,165,000. We do not know what the increase has been since then. This makes the realists happy. A beer built in Windsor will make them sad. The Ontario beer bill seems to have made the iniquities of American prohibition apparent and have brought the Free Press to a quick decision in a long pondered issue. Whatever it did, the boys are now right.

Ontario is about the last of the Canadian provinces to retain prohibition. All the provinces except Quebec yielded to the demands of America on this side of the line and tied themselves up in a dry knot. Quebec did not. It adopted a sensible, revenue-producing government vending and licensing scheme which worked. The rest of Canada did not take the equivalent of our constitutional prohibition which could not be changed. Its prohibition was provincial law which the people could change when they wanted to, by provinces. They have been doing so and even in Ontario the drys maintained prohibition in the most recent liquor election only by about 40,000 votes. And the Ontario legislature can give the province beer if it wants it—four point four beer, which is a larger content than the average good pre-Volstead beer was here. There is a sane democracy north of the line, moderate, orderly, and law abiding. There is a violent democracy here south. It will be less violent when it gets its beer.

FRANCE AND HER PROBLEMS.

Whatever the immediate outcome of the present political and financial crisis in France, it is certain that sooner or later the French people must deal with the results of their government's postwar policies in some drastic way. Frank comment on the state of French public finances does not hesitate at the assertion that while the French people are well to do, their government is virtually bankrupt.

It is a condition which cannot be treated indefinitely by palliatives. French credit abroad is seriously shaken, and it is said additional loans for the purposes of supporting the franc and holding over for a few months are no longer obtainable. That may have forced the Herriot government to take up the problem more seriously than it has been considered by its predecessors, which cling to the theory that by some diplomatic or financial legerdemain Germany could be made to pay enough to relieve the French predicament. With the study of the facts by the Dawes commission and the adoption of the Dawes reparations plan this theory became no longer tenable even politically, and French statesmen have had to face an approaching debacle.

That they can bring France through without the most severe measures they now no longer hope, hence we have proposals which would have been more profitable at an earlier stage but which at any time would test the national spirit and will to the uttermost. When we consider that the obvious wisdom of adequate taxation has been refused while the other war nations were accepting it, we can estimate what the French popular reaction will be to the revolutionary exactions now proposed. The suggestion of the present finance minister of a voluntary contribution of 10 per cent of the wealth of all citizens having more than $25,000 is a novelty, and one which, considering the attitude of the French toward taxation, it is difficult to take seriously. But no one will wisely hazard a prophecy of what a people like the French will do when appealed to on grounds of patriotism. If it fails a compulsory capital levy is threatened, and if this is resorted to the disorganization of French private capital and enterprise cannot fail to be serious, though the relief of France's public finance and the possible restoration of her credit may compensate.

The alternative of inflation is thus far stoutly resisted. It is a painful process for individuals, but, as resurgent Germany discloses, it has certain compensations for survivors and for the nation. In the case of France it would wipe out a large class which is not contributing as much to the productive energy of France as it might, individuals living comfortably or investment, and especially a considerable number of state employees or beneficiaries who ought to be got off the backs of the producers. Inflation would commit some cruelties to the old and incapacitated. It would not encourage thrift and saving. But it might compel a good many official shirkers to go to work and release a good deal of energy sorely needed by France for her rehabilitation.

Whatever the measures adopted to meet the situation, France cannot continue to escape retrenchment and adequate taxation. On top of the vast expenditures of the war she has piled loans and advances to other nations in an elaborate effort to build up a political and military system favorable to her security and her interests. Besides maintaining a huge military establishment and a wasteful army of state employees, she has had to undertake the great task of restoration in the devastated regions, and she has chosen to lend large amounts to allies, though, as much of this aid was given in accumulated war materials, the immediate strain upon her financial condition on this account was less than the sum would indicate. But with a floating debt of at least seventy billion francs, an income which does not meet expenditures, and a credit necessarily disappearing through failure to meet external obligations, French finance must soon face a painful and even dangerous accounting. Political and social consequences of the gravest nature, not merely economic and fiscal, are threatened.

Hope lies less in the wisdom of her statesmen, who it seems to us, have erred so seriously since the war ended, than in the courage and devotion of the French people. They are a rich people, as well as intensely patriotic, and once convinced of their country's need of sacrifice, history shows they have not flinched.

Certainly it is the interest of all nations that France should win through to a real stability, which we do not think can be achieved save by the adoption of policies more conducive to her own peace and the peace of the world than those she has been pursuing.

The nation as a whole has repudiated prohibition, it is a sad, depressing and disappointing fact that the eighteenth amendment has brought no blessing to the youth of America. It is a fair contention that on the contrary it has brought a curse.

The fearful increase of drinking and the consequent deterioration of morals and standards, to say nothing of health, among boys and girls of high school age and even more tender years since the reign of the bootlegger commenced as is deplorable as any evil had ever fallen on this country. The saloon was bad. It should remain outlawed forever. But the evil the regulated saloon did the young was trivial in comparison with the devastation caused by what has succeeded it.

Conditions never were so bad as they are today and no light ahead. We are a nation of hypocrites and habitual law breakers. Our youth is being ruined.

Reluctantly this newspaper arrives at the conviction that the eighteenth amendment was a foolish error and that the most pressing domestic problem before the United States today is how to get rid of prohibition in its present extreme form and substitute for it moderate but effective liquor legislation that will have the support of public sentiment and above all save the youth of the nation from its present peril.

SODA AS A MEDICINE.

M. J. V. writes: "Please find enclosed leaflet from the soda people. Tell us what you think of it in your health talk."

REPLY.

"The inclosed leaflet" is a piece of typical patent medicine advertising put out by a firm manufacturing cooking soda. The advertisement reads as a preventive and a cure for colds and influenza. They were bold in spirit. They tell what to do if you are cold and forty, have the grippe, or high blood pressure, or Bright's disease, and divers diseases we read about in Genesis.

Not what the doctor should tell you, but simple things to do that you should know if you want a cure for influenza.

There are panaceas for the well and uncomfortable, as well as pointers for the sick. If ants bite you, or chiggers or ticks, or if you have blisters on your feet, send & cents to the Public Service Co. of America, Tribune, for a copy of "Pointers" by Dr. W. A. Evans.

P. S.—You get a picture of "Doc" thrown in.

POINTERS BY DR. EVANS

Thirty-four of these articles have been put together in a booklet entitled "Pointers" by Dr. W. A. Evans.

THE LAST FAG.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to keep the line, let the quips fall where they may.

REPLY.

(A Reminiscence of Sergeant F.)

The sharpshooter wailed over Ypres town
With shrieks that rent the night,
While Very Flares came floating down
In glare of ghastly light.

At Hellfire Corner I got mine—

Lay cursing for a fag.

Until a voice that choked with slime

Said: "Buddy, here's a drag."

Across the mud he crawled to me,

And I remember yet

The way we shared the ecstasy

Of that lone cigarette.

Like pals we shared it turn about

Until our fingers burned,

Too soon its sweet incense died out

For rasping throat it yearned.

With many pleasures since that day,

Still I cannot forget

The one that makes them all seem gray—

That last half cigarette!

AT FOUR O'CLOCK yesterday afternoon the best we could say was that Digger Dever had put his proposition over by fifteen thousand majority.

Therefore we immediately started one of our roosters to crowing. (Oh, of course we could have said at four o'clock, or even half-past three, for that matter, that the majority was fifty thousand. But why exaggerate?)

A Donfarranac.

R. H. L.: If you don't keep that Donfarranac out of the line he's going to get blamed for one more good man gone wild. His stuff carries us back to the days of that poignantly sweet song, "I'm goin' crazy—don't you wanna go along?"

Yea, I wanta go along. Tra la, 'tis spring—sing for toye, spring for mandy. Tra la, Donfarranac—I'll be waiting for ye—in the shade of the old apple tree.

RIVERSON ROSE.

tuu-ron mandy—me.

AT LEAST THAT.

R. H. L.: I come forth humbly, in a modest if meandering defense. In writing "Arrowsmith" Mr. Lewis has demonstrated himself to be as adept in literary technique as he is in medical technology. He has achieved a Dr. Pickering, who will be as much admired by his prototypes in our Rotarian life as he is reviled by the Meneckens of our aesthetic cosmos. He has produced a scientist who is both scientific and synthetic, depending on whether one regards him as a doctor or a proctor.

Mixed motives in doctors of contrasted moralities do not necessarily lead to moral doctors of contemporary significance; but in "Arrowsmith" at least Mr. Lewis has given us something unusual. It is not merely a play upon words, a play upon plots, or a play upon credulity; it is a combination of words and plot producing a play which does not tax credulity. F. Emerson Toombs III.

EVEN if the traction ordinance hadn't carried, even if the traction ordinance hadn't carried, we wouldn't have cared. For we live at the Virginia hotel, and that is only three blocks from the Line O' Type or Two office, and what use would we have for a subway anyway?

So even if the traction ordinance hadn't carried, yessir, even if the traction ordinance hadn't carried, pooh! we wouldn't have cared! Pooh, pooh, and again pooh!

The Most Important of All—the Gentle Reader.

R. H. L.: Can't you make some sort of annex to the Mu Tau Lambda for those who aren't witty, can't write poetry, and therefore never make the Line, but who religiously read the Line, listen on Line Night (even when you sing), and enjoy it immensely? Yes, what are we? Where do we belong, or don't we?

DUMB GERTY.

SMARKAND.

Small child, young child, why do you sigh,
Sigh as bare as a wintry sky?

You could see our bodies blot out the moon,
As we roamed the night, young, hand in hand,
And little I recked the time was soon
I'd stroll, alone, in Samarkand.

Small child, young child, why do you hold
Your head so high, your head so bold?

I stroll, alone, in Samarkand,

But ever I'll treasure, in my hurt soul,
Warmth o' the night on that far strand,
Stars hung low from a brassy bowl . . .

We Would Have Him Always Happy.

R. H. L.: As this is "Kindness to Animals" week, don't forget to give Sylvester his three pieces . . . you might even go so far as to give him . . . well, say, a chocolate caramel . . . but, no, that might stick in his teeth . . . don't forget . . . although I suppose you would like to see him with his "fins" up. . . more in his call all day, took a swing at a reporter who was questioning Mrs. Smith. She blew landed on the jaw and knocked the reporter nearly into the floor, edition, when the newspaper man tried to come back Chief of Police Leggett grabbed him and threw him bodily out of the courtroom.

Then a little girl reporter took a hand—or rather a foot. She aimed a mean kick at the chief's shin and her dainty slipper flew to the ceiling. Other reporters took a hand and there was a general mêlée for a few minutes.

Mrs. Sweitzer No. 1 was on hand and verbally threw her husband out of the door.

"He can't come back to me," she said. "I'm done. If he did come back, he would return to this woman in a short time. He's no longer in my life."

"It's a horrid mess," was the policeman's only comment.

No. 2, Told of Meeting.

Mrs. Smith was more loquacious. Her desire to please the reporters and photographers, in fact, led to the battle with the reporters.

"I met Sam in a cafe three years ago and we loved each other. I was married and so was he, but he helped me get my divorce and later told me his wife had done the same thing," she explained.

"So we went to Crown Point and were married. We decided to live in Evanston because it's quiet, our here and people don't bother about other people's business."

Easy Puzzle with No Two Letter Words
BOGIE TIME, FIVE MINUTES.

Puzzle by Miss Agnes Clouthier, 3032 North Racine avenue, Chicago.

THE TRIBUNE is still paying $25 for every original puzzle accepted and published. Do not use designs you have seen, but create new ones. Number the squares in the puzzle pattern, but do not fill in the words. The definitions and words should be listed together. The neatness with which a puzzle is constructed counts much toward its acceptance. Do not use foreign or obscene words, and make the definitions easy and clear.

DEATH CLAIMS ATTY. FERNALD OF PULLMAN CO.

Attempt to Regain Health in South Fails.

Gustavus Stockman Fernald, general counsel of the Pullman company, with which he had been connected twenty years, died yesterday in Pass Christian, Miss., where he had spent the winter in an effort to regain his health. Heart disease led to his death. He was 77 years old. For years his home has been with his family in the Virginia hotel.

His Last Legal Appearance.

Mr. Fernald made his last appearance for the Pullman company last October in a hearing before the Interstate commerce commission in Washington.

He was born Nov. 11, 1857, in Otisfield, Me. His early legal education was in the law office of Gen. Charles P. Matticks, Portland, Me. He was admitted to the bar in 1882 and began practice in Brainerd, Minn. From 1890 to 1905 he served in the law office of the Northern Pacific railroad. In 1905 he was made assistant general solicitor of the Pullman company.

Married in 1878

He married Gertrude Whittier Buck of Portland, Me., Sept. 24, 1878.

Mr. Fernald was a member of the Town and Country club, St. Paul, the Chicago club, and the Exmoor Country club.

ELIMINATE GATE RECEIPTS, ADVISE SPORT DIRECTORS

Elimination of gate receipts and discouragement of championship games in schools were suggested yesterday as ways to bring more girls into athletic competition and realize the aim of the National Amateur Athletic federation. The federation closed its convention last night at the Hotel La Salle.

Audiences also should be restricted, it was suggested, but the speakers so that sportsmanship and enjoyment of playing will be the main interest in the events in girls' schools. Audiences discourage the less proficient, who need encouragement.

Miss Lillian Schoedler, executive secretary of the federation, and a few years ago a star in almost all athletic lines at Barnard college, went so far as to say intercollegiate contests should be abolished so that stars in sports could not outshine their less proficient sisters.

the big ship's bow, watched by thousands of spectators. Whistlers from craft on the Delaware mingled their din with the cheers of the thousands on both shores of the river as the Saratoga glided into the water.

A score of navy and marine aircraft swooped and soared over the New York Shipbuilding corporation yards during the christening. A bevy of carrier pigeons, too, winged their way southward as the Saratoga took the water, bearing the tidings to President Coolidge.

JANAY for BEAUTY'S sake

DAY USE
Apply Janay Night Mask with finger tips. Smooth evenly, then remove with soft cloth. Janay Night Mask lightens and tones the skin and removes wrinkles. It is the perfect base for Janay Cream Powder, which is next applied with wet sponge. Apply Janay Cream Powder evenly, pat off with soft cloth till every trace is removed. Janay Cream Powder does not clog nor pack the pores. All day long, you are young, warm, windproof, sunproof—fresh, smooth, glowing and exquisitely soft. No powdering is necessary.

Possibilities Unknown.
Heretofore the United States navy has not possessed airplane launching and carriers of more than small auxiliary size. Therefore, the possibility of this 32,000 ton steel monstrosity with its awkward appearing flat deck and its giant electric motors, which will drive it at a thirty-three knot speed, will be critically tested.

The Saratoga will be mother to a brood of seventy-two planes, thirty-one of which will be bombers. Besides these planes, stores of explosives and armament parts with which she will constitute part of her equipment.

Her speed will enable the airship to range far ahead of the battleship, transporting a veritable nest of Hornets to the enemy wherever located. It is a new phase of naval maneuvers, naval officers agree.

To Have Sister Ship.

The U. S. S. Lexington, sister ship of the Saratoga, will be launched at Boston, Mass., next fall. Both vessels were originally planned to be built at Philadelphia, but under the Washington Disarmament treaty were redesigned for aircraft transports. The vessel will measure 880 feet at the water line. The turbine generators will develop 45,000 horse power to each of the four screws, which surpasses the total man power of a city the size of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Wilbur Godmother.

Will the familiar instructions from her husband "to give her a good wife, not" Mrs. Curtis D. Wilbur, wife of the secretary of the navy, break the bottle of mineral water over the hull of the new ship?

SEEKS CONGRESS POST VACATED BY DEATH OF MATE

Mrs. Edith Rogers Opens Bay State Campaign.

Lowell, Mass., April 7.—Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, widow of Congressman John Clark Rogers announced today that she would become a candidate for election as representative of the fifth Massachusetts district to succeed her husband.

Her intention and wish have been to return to my work among the disabled veterans of the world war but there seems to be a desire for a continuation of the policies established by my husband and for which he worked so hard," Mrs. Rogers said.

Has Two Precedents. Washington, April 7.—Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers is the third woman to seek election to the house of representatives to succeed her husband upon his death. The other two were successful.

Mrs. Mae Nolan of San Francisco was elected to the sixty-first congress in the sixty-eighth congressional district in 1920. Mrs. Julius Kahn, also of San Francisco, was elected at a recent election to succeed her husband.

TEACHER'S WIFE ASKS $25,000 IN LOVE BALM SUIT

The love of John C. Hayden, a teacher in Lans Technical High school, yesterday was valued at $25,000 by his wife in bringing suit for alienation of affection against Mrs. Ada Garvey of Glen Ellyn.

Mrs. Hayden charges intimacy has been going on for four years and that in 1921 she filed suit for separate maintenance after trapping her husband in Mrs. Garvey's apartment.

Gifts and money that should have come to the wife have gone to Mrs. Garvey, Mrs. Hayden alleges.

Schulte Optometrists Render the Utmost in Optical Science At Prices Everyone Can Afford

Optometrists of the highest standing in their profession are proud to associate themselves with a large organization, exclusively optical, such as Schulte's, who furnishes them the best in test room equipment and provides every facility for doing good work. Firms who conduct optical departments as a side line do not secure men of this calibre.

At Schulte's the complete transaction of prescribing, grinding and fitting is accomplished under one roof. The registered optometrist who examines your eyes (without charge) prescribes your lenses and also superintends the grinding. He advises the type of frame most suitable to your personality and fits them so they are comfortable and satisfactory in every way. There is no division of responsibility—every detail is covered by the Schulte guarantee.

This wonderfully complete service has enabled Schulte to build one of the largest optical practices in the world. Over 400,000 people in Chicago and New York now wear Schulte Glasses.

EXPECT TO FILL JURY TODAY IN MUNDING TRIAL

Eleven jurors had been chosen last night and the twelfth was expected to be accepted early today in the trial of George Munding, Chicago riding master, for the murder of Mrs. Julia Douglas, his fiancee, near her riding academy at Hindale last September. A panel of twenty-four was ordered to appear today.

Attorney Clarence Darrooy for the defense questioned the prospective jurors as to their attitude toward prohibition. He has indicated that his defense for Munding will be temporary insanity, brought on by jealousy and liquor. The state challenged all veniremen who declared themselves opposed to the death penalty for murder.

Girls Play with Matches; Blaze Destroys Village

Marquette, Mich., April 7.—[Special] Another chapter to the old story of children playing with matches was written today at Chatham, about thirty miles east of Marquette, when two little girls playing in the hay barn of Frank Hill, started a fire that virtually destroyed the small village. The loss is estimated at between $60,000 and $100,000, and many families were made homeless.

CALLES WARNS AGRARIANS NOT TO INCITE PEONS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service] Mexico City, April 7.—President Calles' address at the opening of the peasant's congress at Jerez state of Zacatecas, yesterday was discouraging to the radical agrarians, who have been stirring up the peasants in the various Mexican states to direct action against the land owners.

"Every one who urges peasants to violent means to obtain lands should be disowned, as he is only seeking to create difficulties for the government and the peasant themselves, whom he will desert when he sees danger ahead," President Calles said.

"The government is making every effort at financial retrenchment and monetary rehabilitation of the nation. This accomplished, it will be possible to develop the extensive agrarian program. We will extend financial aid to the peasants and establish agricultural schools."

U. S. Extradition Treaty with Roumania Concluded

BUCHAREST, April 7.—[By the Associated Press.]—The American minister, Peter August Jay, and the Roumanian foreign minister today formally exchanged signed copies of the extradition treaty recently ratified between the United States and Roumania.

Twenty years have elapsed since negotiations began. The agreement does not grant extradition for political offenses nor crimes involving capital punishment, as in Roumania there is no death penalty.

GETS VANADINE AS BY-PRODUCT FROM PIG IRON

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service] STOCKHOLM, April 7.—Rutger von Zeitz, a Swedish metallurgic authority, has patented a method for extracting vanadine from Swedish phosphorous and iron ores. While producing pig iron he also gets vanadine, in the same percentage as American vanadine ore, and workable by the same methods.

Practical experiments in the famous iron works of Domnarvet have been highly successful. With the Swedish pig iron production of 100,000 tons, about 150 tons of vanadine will be a by-product. It is estimated the cost will be 18 Swedish crowns (about 35 cents) per kilo. The new method is considered important, as the rest of the world's production is only about 1,000 tons.

SAVE ALL WORLD FAIR BUILDINGS, PLEA TO CHICAGO

Committee Is Organized with This Aim.

An appeal to all Chicagoans to assist in saving the old world's fair buildings in Jackson park was issued yesterday by the citizens' committee organized for the preservation of the German building.

Not only is it desired to save this one building, which was almost totally destroyed by fire last Tuesday, but it is the hope of the committee, aided by general contributions, to bring about the restoration of the Japanese buildings and the replica of Columbus' caravel, the Santa Maria, as well.

What Is Needed.

Approximately $400,000, it is believed, will be necessary to carry on the work. The Fine Arts building has already been provided for with a $5,000,000 bond issue, and the South Park board now has the matter of reconditioning the building under advisement.

Among those present at the meeting at the Atlantic hotel yesterday noon were Ernest J. Kreutgen, chairman; Londo Taft, Joseph H. Deffries, Judge George Hebel, Henry Stockton, Conrad F. W. Hirsch, and Tolson F. F. P. Mueller, Mrs. Alton L. Headburg, Mrs. Edward S. Bailey, Mrs. Walter Seymour, Mrs. John Mauze, and Mrs. D. Harry Hammer.

Judge Hebel, Mrs. Seymour, Mrs. Headburg, Mrs. Blockt, Mrs. Hammer, and Mr. Stockart were appointed a committee to take up the matter with the South Park commissioners at their next meeting.

Wants All Fair Relics Saved.

"The German building should be restored to original beauty," advised Mr. Taft. "Only lack of artistic appreciation could have permitted the neglect of such a landmark."

LINK OHIO GOVERNOR'S SON IN DISAPPEARANCE OF 15 YEAR OLD GIRL

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

BERLIN, April 7.—The right coalition is threatened tonight with a breakaway as Gustave Stresemann, leader of the People's party, continues to hold out against the candidacy of General Hindenburg in the presidential elections which will be held on April 28.

The veteran general late last night reconsidered his refusal to run on the plea of the Bavarian People's party, and is awaiting a definite offer from the united Nationalists as the only condition on which he will run. General Hindenburg's decision depends on Dr. Stresemann, an industrial group, which refused to accept the People's party will not follow Dr. Stresemann, however.

Dr. Stresemann tonight let it be known that the People's party would swing over to Wilhelm Marx unless the Nationalists withdrew their demands. A strong section of the People's party will not follow Dr. Stresemann, however.

FIND BODY IN DRAINAGE CANAL. Police yesterday found in the sanitary drainage canal of the village of Dorf, on the island of Rügen, a body of Dorf, Rügen Island, sailor, missing since March 12, when he started to run over a bridge to a fire and fell into the water.

Columbus, O., April 7.—Gov. Donahey was ready to accept the latest automobile escapade of Hal Donahey, his 17 year old son, as a "passing incident."

After trying all day to gather up loose ends of a story that young Donahey was implicated in the disappearance of Lillian Vorel, 15, of Zanesville, O., it was announced at the executive offices tonight that no substantiation of the story could be obtained.

The girl sent a telegram from Columbus to her mother saying that she had gone to Florida. Frances Keaton, Zanesville chum of Lillian, declared the latter had eloped with a boy who said he was Hal Donahey, after the boy had taken the two of them for a ride.

Young Hal recently served a three day sentence for speeding.

Chicagoans for the preservation of all the relics of the fair," counseled Mr. Deffries. He approved a suggestion that the German building be used as a music center. He finished his speech with a pledge of $1,000, provided the remainder of the sum is raised.

London Works on Plan to Link All Europe by Phone

LONDON, April 7.—(REUTERS)—The Associated Press—London was in telephone communication early today with Amsterdam, Hamburg, Berlin, Malmo, and Stockholm, in the experiments by the British general post office to establish a European telephone service which may be used commercially. Recently London had Rome on the wire for the first time. The French and German capitals are competing to become the center of European telephone communication.

MILLION"

A Challenge To Your Business Growth

SUCH a selling achievement does not "just happen." The American public says "value received" or it does not buy!

Success Begets Success

Liberty's million was acquired on merit, without price cutting, clubbing offers or premiums to subscribers. More than 200 national advertisers have appeared. Many of them report exceptionally profitable response. Their salesmen have found that the story of a campaign in Liberty gives a fresh, resultful approach to the trade. These facts establish Liberty as a force in American business.

Unique Editorial Plan

1,000,000 people welcome a voice that rings true with the times! Liberty is not a pedantic monotone. It is enterprising. It is human. It is clean.

Liberty's appeal is so varied that every member of the family enjoys it. Therefore more people, concentrated in family buying units, see each advertising page.

No Jungle Burial Ground

Because Liberty features are not "jumped" back to a morass of advertising pages, Liberty's entire content has the same relative attraction as the group of editorial pages in the front of the average magazine. Therefore every Liberty advertiser receives a greater number of "sees" for his advertising dollar.

Versatility of Reproduction

The advertising pages in Liberty are enhanced by the graphic beauty of the magazine itself. Four color covers—a running fire of color throughout the entire content—new and refreshing page arrangements—diversified art work—clearer, larger type.

Directed Circulation

Liberty's circulation is directed into those communities where retail sales potentialities are greatest. Liberty is thus the solution of an important sales problem. The working facts of this solution are at the call of any national advertiser.

Where do we stand in the Air?

An authoritative article by Theodore Roosevelt in this week's Liberty

Could enemy aircraft destroy our navy and deluge our cities with gas and high explosive shells? . . . Here's a straightforward exposition of what's what in the widely circulated controversy over America's present aerial defense. It is a brilliant and timely article of extreme importance to every citizen. Be sure to read it and the many other interesting features.

Also these other features in the same issue:
A thrilling short story about Rum Running, by William A. Forman. . . . A great success article by Hugh Fullerton. . . . A lively golf story by William Slavens McNutt. . . . What are you best fitted for? A vocational article by Charles A. Fell.

AUSTRIAN DENIES PACKER COMBINE RESTRAINS TRADE

Washington, D. C., April 7.—(Special)—Staking his reputation as "a decent member of the community," Attorney Alfred

S. Austrian, special counsel for the Armour & Co. today challenged Attorney Walter L. Fisher, special government counsel, Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, "as yet one else to point to any one of the 12,265 pages of written testimony showing that the Armour-Morris consolidation was in restraint of trade or in any way manipulated prices in either the buying or selling markets."

Mr. Austrian began his six and a half hour argument in Secretary Jardine's office after Mr. Fisher had completed his opening argument for the government. Mr. Fisher ended by insisting that under the packers and stockyards act it was the duty of the government to prove purpose or intent in the acquisition of the Morris & Co. properties by Armour & Co., but merely to show that the effect of law was "unnatural."

Mr. Fisher yesterday had pleaded that Mr. Jardine issue a "cease and desist order" so that the matter might be taken to a court of last resort. He pointed out that this was only the intention of the framers of the act who were aware that the secretary of agriculture would not be likely to be a man of legal training. Today Mr. Austrian turned this argument to the packers' advantage by insisting that, if it had not been deemed the natural thing for a secretary of agriculture to be legally competent to pass on these matters, then the whole act was an "unnatural" law.

RUMBLING OF WAGONS HERALD CIRCUS' ARRIVAL

The blare of a circus band and the old familiar rumble of the circus wagons were heard yesterday in the railroad yards at 18th and La Salle street, where the Sells-Floto circus unloaded before the peep of dawn.

Even at 4 o'clock, when the thirty-five cars rolled into town, a little company of enthusiasts was present to watch the tarpon pulled off the red paint and gilded splendor of the band wagons, and the ponies and elephants—five pairs of 'em—begin the march to the Coliseum, where the big show will open Saturday for a three weeks' stay.

"Little Eva," the fat girl, who weighs somewhere between 400 and 500 pounds, nearly stopped the unloading for a while. No means of getting her over to the Coliseum appeared feasible until some one backed a truck up to the car, and the problem was solved.

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX DINNER JACKETS ARE EASY TO GET AND EASY TO WEAR

There's no hardship in dressing for dinner, a dance or the theatre these days. Dinner clothes are comfortable; easy to wear and easy in cost. More important; they're "the style" and yours ought to be the best style. Ours are wider shoulders, shorter coats, snugness at the hips; full trousers that taper a trifle to the bottom. The Hart Schaffner & Marx label means fine all-wool quality, too.

RUSSIANS SEEK UTOPIA IN LEGAL TRIAL MARRIAGE

BUENOS AIRES, April 7.—[By United Press]—Trial marriages with all the trimmings of regular wedlock are being tried in rural Russia in an effort to produce a marital utopia.

First, the official newspaper announced the inauguration of the trial marriage plan in areas of the interior, where considerable difficulty has been had in handling the severe demands of the sickle and hammer. The triumph of the communist party over Kerensky the wedding ceremony became purely civil.

Details of the nationalization of Russian women have come out of Russia from the time since the revolution, but these years were more numerous immediately after Trotzky and Lenin rose to power than since the Soviet state has achieved a comparatively firm foundation.

Trial marriage proponents have argued that only by an actual experiment in marriage could two persons determine whether they were suited to go through life together. The experiment in rural Russia will be the first thorough test of trial marriage by a modern state.

A sample marriage contract, prepared by Pravda, follows:

1. I, the Citizen Sergei Kowalev, herewith pledge myself to keep Anna Romanenko as my legal wife beginning in the year 1925.

2. I, the Citizeness Anna Romanenko, herewith declare my willingness to be the wife of Sergei Kowalev for three years running.

3. I, Sergei Kowalev, for three years hereafter consider the Romanenko my wife, and pledge myself to treat her accordingly during the above mentioned period.

RADIO FANS TO SEE AND HEAR NEXT OLYMPICS

Baltimore, Md., April 7.—Invention of a device known as "the prismatic ring" will enable radio fans to see the next Olympic games as well as hear the cheering. It is as simple as a baseball game, as well as hearing the broadcast to the American Chemical society, in session here today, by the inventor, C. Francis Jenkins of Washington, D. C.

He also promises that the stay at home may see the presidential inaugurations from their own fire-side, or a distant football, polo, or baseball game as it is happening.

In military work the chiefs of army and navy, it is declared, may see at headquarters all that a lens looks upon as it is carried aloft in a scouting airplane.

Mr. Jenkins explained that still pictures are now excellently done both by radio and wire, and that, as the speed of the apparatus is the only difference between stills and movies, the public may confidently expect radio movies soon. It is now a daily laboratory demonstration.

The ever present topic of prohibition came before the meeting in the report of the committee on industrial alcohol, which urged that the chemists of the country unite to frame concrete proposals for the regulation of industrial alcohol lest their work be hampered by restrictive legislation aimed at the bootlegger, but hit the chemist.

Mr. Jenkins, a newspaper editor, who planned Victoria's trip, now demands part of the $40,000. Herr Snesarew, plan, according to dispatches from Copenhagen, when the case is being tried, was to declare Cyril's 6 year old son, Vladimir, successor to the Russian throne, but Victoria refused because she wanted the glory of the position as czarina.

CYRIL AND WIFE SUED FOR MONEY RAISED IN U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service]

BERLIN, April 7.—The Grand Duke Cyril and the Grand Duchess Victoria Feodorova, the self-crowned "czar and czarina" of Russia, burst into unpleasant print again today. This time they were sued for a share of $40,000 said to have been collected by Victoria American women's clubs during their visit.

Grand Duchess Victoria went to America to collect millions for the restoration of monarchist Russia. While she did not get this, she did receive a tidy sum.

M. Snesarew, a newspaper editor, who planned Victoria's trip, now demands part of the $40,000. Herr Snesarew, plan, according to dispatches from Copenhagen, when the case is being tried, was to declare Cyril's 6 year old son, Vladimir, successor to the Russian throne, but Victoria refused because she wanted the glory of the position as czarina.

BRITAIN PUTS IN NEW GERMAN DEBT SYSTEM

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service]

LONDON, April 7.—The house of commons adopted a resolution this afternoon suspending certain sections of the German reparations recovery act, which was rendered necessary by the adoption of the Dawes report. Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, and the Grand Duchess Victoria, went to America to collect millions for the restoration of monarchist Russia. While she did not get this, she did receive a tidy sum.

The recommendation was made following a meeting of various voluntary teachers organizations which take in about one-half of them in the system and include the Principals' club, George Howland club, Federation of Women High School teachers, Federation of Men teachers, Schoolmasters' club, High School Teachers' club, High School Central Council, Teachers' League, Association of Assistants to Principals, Eighth Grade Teachers' League, Kindergarten association, Physical Education club, Household Arts club, and Elementary Manual Training Teachers' club.

HALF TEACHING FORCE BEHIND NEW PAY PLAN

Adoption of Superintendent William McAndrews' new salary schedule, which will give increases from 10 to 30 per cent to the teaching force, was urgently recommended by about one-half of the teachers in a telegram sent to every member of the board of education.

SOLDIER, 24, GETS 26 YEARS IN CELL AS RED PLOTTER

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
HONOLULU, April 7.—The second heavy sentence handed out to a young soldier alleged to be under the influence of communist propaganda at Schofield barracks here was given yesterday by a general court martial when Private Walter Trumbull, 24, of the 21st Infantry band, was dishonorably discharged from the army and sentenced to twenty-six years at hard labor on five charges centering about efforts to establish a branch of the Third International.

Private Crouch, who is under forty years' sentence, attempted to assume the entire responsibility for the affair by testifying that he did not believe Private Trumbull was familiar enough with communist propaganda to understand the documents which he signed. Crouch, who is only 24 is a graduate of the University of Denver.

CONSTIPATION MEANS SHORTENED LIFE

When your bowels refuse to work and the poisons have to find other outlets such as your lungs, kidneys and skin, you are courting sickness and shortening your life. You are also running grave danger of dreadful disease. Do your bowels act at least twice daily? If not you are constipated and must do something right away or you may be gravely ill.

Dr. Caldwell's

SYRUP PEPSIN

The Family Laxative

will relieve chronic constipation, regulate your system, and for 30 years has assisted Nature in properly exercising the bowels of America's millions. A pleasing liquid combination of Egyptian senna, pepsin and aromatics, the tested prescription of Dr. Caldwell proven by years in his large practice.

Different Because It Relaxes And Does Not Require Continued Use

The intestinal bowels are closed with one dose, but to allow Nature to do her work and give maximum results, two doses daily should be taken until your bowels are moving naturally by themselves. 10,000,000 bottles are used annually because it never fails.

It is sold everywhere medicine is sold and recommended. Try it at once. Your doctor will return your money if it fails to do as promised.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve
it. Then you destroy it entirely.
To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary Liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itch ing and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft,

and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get Liquid Arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Detroit, Mich., April 7.—De Hart Hubbard, Negro athlete of the University of Michigan, tied the world's record of 36.15 for the fifty yard dash and Ivan H. Riley of the Illinois A. C., Chicago, made what local officials claim is a new record for the fifty yard high hurdles indoors in the second night's meet of the Michigan A. A. U. here.

Search of record books failed to produce a mark for the fifty yard high hurdles over four hurdles indoors on a dirt track which Riley made in 36.510.

University of Michigan athletes were second in both races.

Nearby Outstrips Rivals.

Pavlo Nurmi had competition from Eli Krogh, Illinois Athletic club, and Jenny Connolly, former Georgetown university star distance man, for the first 2,000 meters of the 3,000 meter feature of the night but finished fresh and 100 yards ahead of Krogh. His time was slow—5:56, nearly half a min. behind his best American time for the distance.

Charles Reitke, regarded as one of the leading half milers of the western conference, finished second in the 880 yard run, close on the heels of Ray Dele, Illinois A. C. Dodge's time was 2:01.5.

Holds What Easily.

With Ritola, his field four down to win the 5,000 meter run. Joe Ray, L. A. C., beaten last night in the mile by Lloyd Hahn, Boston A. A., tested defeat from the same source again, Hahn winning the three-quarter mile run in 3:17.

The surprise of the carnival was the defeat by Paul Jones of the Illinois A. C. of James Brooker, University of Michigan pole vault. Brooker, who has vaulted 13 feet 3 1/2 inch, could not go over the bar tonight at 12 feet 4 inches. Jones winning at that height.

Frigid, Italy, won the two mile walk in 14:23. Granville, Canada, and Paul, New York, were tied for second.

NURMI TO RACE RITOLA HERE IN 3,000 METER RUN.

Pavlo Nurmi will race his greatest rival and fellow countryman, Willie Ritola, in the feature event of the first annual Loyola relays at Grant Park stadium, April 19, officials of the north side school announced last night. They have been paired for 3,000 meters.

This will be the third meeting of the Finland stars. At the K. of C. games in New York, April 17, Nurmi was forced to withdraw because of stomach cramps after setting a terrific pace. Two days later Pavlo evened up by defeating his rival at Buffalo.

Anton H. Hiltz entries received for the university relay section are two teams from Notre Dame, Justin Russell, high jumper, and Harry Freidrich, medium thrower of the University of Chicago, will compete unattached. Entries will close April 17.

First Floor, North.

Toujours Moi"

A Rare French Perfume In a Fluted Container

Aptly named, for this perfume is a charming choice as a gift to a friend at Easter-time. It's a scent oriental in its essence and lasting, too. One and one-half ounces in a decorative container at $10.

First Floor, South.

Two New Styles, Dainty with Lace, in Silk Envelope Chemises, $3.95 Each

Specially featured among many lovely new undergarments here because they typify in daintiness and moderate pricing the character of the assortments as a whole.

Battenberg Lace Trims The Style Sketched Left

This and the edgings of lace in Valenciennes pattern make the style especially lovely, $3.95.

Rows of insertion and edgings of lace are garniture for the crepe de Chine chemise sketched right. Pastel shades. $3.95.

Silk Night-Dresses $5.95 Each

Many styles provide for nearly every preference. Of crepe de Chine in pastel colorings with Irish and filet laces. $5.95 each.

Third Floor, North.

Second Floor, East.

English Chamois and French Suede Gloves

Leathers as smart as the gloves they fashion. Styles, too, new with this springtime. Each one typical of the glove-making craft that produced it.

One notes a nonchalant ease in the fit of the tailored gloves from England. A trimmer, closer fit in the gloves from France.

The Suede Gloves, Priced $3.50 Pair In the Six-Button Length

The suede, fine and soft, in a weight especially suited to the season. The colors include the lighter shades in gray and brown as well as white. $3.50 pair.

The Chamois Gloves in Pull-on Style, $3.50 Pair

Swagger-looking gloves of washable chamois. In the five-button length with elastic at the wrist to hold them in place. In natural chamois color and white. $3.50 pair.

First Floor, North.

Boys' Suits

In Four-Piece Style With English "Shorts" $17.50

New styles for spring, 1925. The boy himself knows that by the "sack" coat, the blunt vest, the straight short trousers (two pairs of these included with each suit).

Gray flannel and all-wool cassimeres in the new spring shades are the fabrics. Sizes 5 to 9 years. Sketched at the right. Priced $17.50.

Boys' Four-Piece Suits With Checked Vests $22.75

Swagger-looking suits, indeed, for the vests are of flannel checked in white and colors to match the suit.

Excellent tailoring is noted in the set of the coat and knickerbockers — two pairs with each suit. In light gray, tan and blue chevrons. Sizes 5 to 10 years. Sketched at the left. Priced $22.75.

Second Floor, East.

Jaunty Hats for Baby Girls Piquant Complement to New Outfits At $3.50 to $8.75

In a special department of Babies' Own Section that is devoted to millinery is assembled a group of hats of the "tailored" type. Here in color, style and inclusive price range mothers will find the selection of an Easter hat for the wee lass a delightful matter.

At $3.50, smart little hats of straw with bands, ornaments and streamers of grosgrain ribbon. One is sketched at left center.

At $4.95, hats with drooping or rolling brims are trimmed with bands and streamers of ribbon. Right and right center.

At $8.75 are hats of very fine straw in charming youthful styles and a great variety of springtime colors. One of these is sketched at the left.

Third Floor, North.

A Graceful Gift at Easter Time May Be Pearls in Lovely Lustrous Strands

Exquisite are these well-made strands as they merge one into the other in small even pearls, the synthetic kind.

In 60- and 72-Inch Lengths $12.50 and $15

The long ropes of pearls are much in vogue now, as they may be adapted very charmingly to varied neck-lines in fashion. These ropes are priced according to length, $12.50 and $15.

Three-Strand Necklaces with Silver Clasp, $12

In these, too, the pearls are the synthetic kind, very uniform in their tintings and perfectly graduated. Excellent values.

These Pearl Bracelets Are $6

Indestructible pearls arranged to make soft, flexible bracelets finished with silver clasps. $6. Others to $22.50.

First Floor, South.

Enameled Mesh Bracelets Are $6.50

Novel and new and charming are these bracelets in their contrasting color combinations. One sketched.

First Floor, South.

The Mode in a Mood for Contrasts Combines Straw and Fabric with Striking Effect in Hats of the Tailored Type

Striking, even in a season that finds smartness most in an unusual selection of materials and choice of trimmings, are the distinctive new hats that make this collection one of the most interesting assembled here this season.

Here in the Sports Hat Room At $15 to $20

So hats of Bangkok straw are overlaid with felt cut in intricate patterns. Others with crowns of Bangkok take or bengaline for the brim. Quaint flowers or cordings are gaudy and somewhat innocent and naive.

"Well, well, well. Most curious," said Herbert.

"I do, I assure you; but he never heard of his relations some of whom are most arrant scoundrels."

"Isn't Cato Clark still there?"

"As present he is," said the Hawk, "but he has been away for a long time."

"Yes; but now, Mr. Clark, the man was certainly a scoundrel, he has been several times in the relations of scoundrels. You would be surprised to learn that Mr. Clark has been fully reformed."

"Very well, sir," bowed the Hawk, "but he is still a scoundrel."

"He turned on his heel and went away."

"Mr. Cato Clark," he implored, "you have a few moments more of your time, will you be kind enough to let me conclude with you?"

THE HAWK

By DANE COOLIDGE

Rec. U. S.
Patent Office

SYNOPSIS.

The Hawk, known as the Hawk, works as night herder for the NA cattle company, in the Dorian river district. Dull Knife, Aravata, a small independent cattleman, quarrels with Dull Knife, Connelly, over some lost cattle. Aravata transfers his herd to Cato Clark, the company manager, who travels about the country, always accompanied by his sidekick, Alita Morrison. Aravata demands his cattle on Clark. The Hawk interferes with Cato to shoot Aravata if he doesn't get his cattle. After Clark's departure he returns with the Hawk and fires him. The Hawk rides over to the Clark house to tell him he has his cattle, but is always at his service. Cato Clark offers him his job as he has his hired gun, but the Hawk refuses his offer, thus making a bitter enemy of Cato Clark.

INSTALLMENT XV.
CATO'S DEFEAT.

It was long after midnight when the Hawk and Dull Knife rode into town, though they slipped in secretly, the news of their coming had spread, and the morning Cato Clark was missing. Neither he nor Ben Snipes appeared on the streets that day, but along toward evening the word was passed around that they were hiding in the Bull Hook hotel. A man passing their room had heard Clark's deep voice; and where he was Ben Snipes would be too. He had been hired as a special bodyguard, some said at a hundred dollars a day, he succeeded in intimidating the fighting men who led the rustlers, a big body of men, disguised as NA cowboys, were to be rushed in to start a new

"Draw your gun!"

Only, instead of gathering cattle they were to round up the rustlers and kill them, man by man. All this and much more had been poured into the Hawk's ears as they sat waiting in the Lone Star saloon, and when one of them that Snipes was at the hotel he leaped up and started for the door.

He hurried up the street, his high heeled boots clacking resolutely as with each step he entered the hotel; and when a minute later, they stood outside Cato's door, he knocked and ducked out of range. There was a movement inside, and at last Cato Clark answered.

"What's this?" he demanded gruffly.

"We should expect at Dull Knife, and the next moment the door, nearly closed at his fingers, leaped inward, revealing three men. They stood frozen as the Hawk stepped swiftly in, a stern killing light in his eyes.

"You big stiff," he said to Snipes, "you may think you can run this town, but you can't run me. Get your gun, because I've come here to kill you."

He stood poised like a boxer, his delicate hand ready to draw, and the town sheriff of old Abilene turned pale. He was a huge bulk of a man, with slender, puffy eyes, and his iron gray hair hung down in greasy ringlets to his chin.

"I'm not afraid of you," he said. "I'm not afraid of you."

"You're not," answered the Hawk. "I know all about you. You've been here to kill me, but I'll save you the trouble of coming clear out to my house. I've got a gun, and it's a quick move of Clark's Dull Knife jabbed the barrel of his pistol into the Hawk's eye.

"We keep 'em off of this," he advised, and, while the Englishman stood motionless, his eyes glazing into each other's eyes. "Mistah Snipes," spoke the Hawk, "my right I ought to kill you as you've killed many a man before me, but I'll give you a chance—draw your gun!"

The town marshal's eyes wavered as the Hawk stood watching him, and he put up his hands.

"You won't," he said. "Take my gun."

"We won't," replied the Hawk. "I don't take any man's gun. You walk that off, and any time you feel like it you draw and shoot—I'll be here!"

Snipes eyed him curiously, then with a grunt of disgust he strode forward and passed out the door. They went down the stairs together and out on the street, where an immense crowd had already gathered, but the Hawk kept his eyes on Snipes.

"How you get out of town," he ordered, "and don't you even come back!"

"I'm not," he said. "I'm not going to kill you."

A moment later with his gun still strapped upon him, the ex-marshall of Abilene struck out of town; but when Dull Knife appeared, driving Cato Clark before him, the crowd let out a yell. By the terror of his name and the manner of his death, he had killed Ben Snipes had cast them under a spell that only the Hawk could break. Cato Clark was a man of lesser clay, a man who had been killing women. He was a man who had been hired others to do his bidding, and now he was in the toils. Dull Knife swaggered along with a huge gun in his hand, rolling his eyes at the admiring crowd, and gave him cheer after cheer. Here was something that would go down in history.

Cato looked at Dull Knife through his smoked glasses, glanced absently at the sword, and set off up the road after Snipes.

Dull Knife started off across the bridge to the Lone Star saloon, where the day would be free that night; and the Hawk, still watching Clark was just in time to see the single bullet start at him. In the excitement of the gun play the Hawk and Dull Knife had both ignored him, taking the Englishman and Snipes for granted; and now, with both his natural instincts gone, he was the one in a fix.

"One more pardon," he said, stepping up to the Hawk and drawing a card for his case. "I am Mr. Grace of London, England. Can you explain this extraordinary proceeding?"

He presented his card, and the Hawk nodded briefly.

"What is it you don't understand?"

"We first our door is kicked open and you burst into the room and carry off our manager, Mr. Clark, out of town. I can't understand it at all."

"It's very simple," explained the Hawk. "Your manager is a crook and he's the gunman to kill us. He's hired other men before, but we're the ones he's noticed, and this time we didn't take any chances. I'd rather be right now than be shot in the back next month, so we stepped in on him and called his hand. He wouldn't fight, so we ran him out of town."

"It's extraordinary," exclaimed the Englishman. "I can't believe it! But I understand, Miss—ah—Cobtree—glad to meet you. I'm sure—I wonder if you could understand?" The company, as you know, is an English corporation, which I am at present the representative; and it doesn't quite fair to say that our local difficulties deprive our British stockholders of their dues. They are completely innocent—and—"

"Do you know Herbert Gulston?" demanded the Hawk.

"I do," he said. "I understand he's the Hawk."

"I suppose you know his history? You have heard of the man he's killed?"

"Yes, but now, Mr. Cobtree," interrupted the Englishman excitedly.

"There were certainly stealing from the company. In our accounts every one had several thousand head of cattle charged off against the depreciation of rustlers. You will certainly admit that the company has a right to its own property from the thief; and, under the circumstances, I consider that Mr. Clark has been fully justified, yes, fully."

"Very well, sir," bowed the Hawk. "I don't happen to agree with you, but I'm entitled to your opinion."

He turned on his heel and walked away, but the Englishman came rushing after him.

"Cobtree," he implored, "would you mind, as a great favor, giving me a few moments of your time? If Mr. Clark was not justified and you believe it so conclusively I am empowered to retire him immediately."

"You are a good man and I should thank you kindly if you would talk over this with me privately. Might I ask you to come to my rooms?"

The Hawk straightened his shoulders, and glanced up and down the street.

"Right," he said, at last.

The friends of English stockholders were nothing to him, nor, for that matter, were the perplexities of Mr. Grace; but a sense of fairness, even a grim smile, won his grudging consent. He wondered what the Englishman had said. They returned to the tumbled room which they had left such time before, and while the Hawk closed the door, which was half off its hinge, Mr. Grace set out a bottle.

"Good health, sir," he said, and, not to be outdone, the Hawk held up his glass.

"Good health," he responded, and the Englishman sipped his drink.

"Cobtree," he began, "may pardon my curiosity, but are you a man of honor?"

"Yes, I am," he said. "I have no secret. Your bearing and manners—and, I may say, your manners to me are most pleasant."

RINGER PLANS BUSINESS BLOCK AT SAGINAW-79th

BY AL CHASE.

Charles Ringer has bought the north-west corner of 79th and Saginaw, 167 x 147, from Daniel Burkhardtier for an indicated $45,000, title being taken by Morgan L. Fitch. On this site Mr. Ringer intends starting work next month on a $300,000 fireproof business block to contain stores, four room apartments and offices. No architect has yet been engaged. Completion date is set for early in October.

Mr. Ringer is now building a forty-two flat building on the east side of Coles avenue, just south of the south-west corner of 78th, at a cost of $22,000, from plans by Fischer & Larson. It'll be ready for fall renting.

The Spiegel House Furnishing company has renewed its lease on its store at 115 South Wabash avenue for ten years at a term rental reported by Browning, King & Co., the new lessors, to be $1,075,000. This is part of the premises recently leased by Browning, King & Co. from the University of Chicago. H. George Miller was broker in both deals.

New Building for Milwaukee Avenue.
Inst. W. L. Lewis has taken title for a syndicate to the 79th at the northeast corner of Milwaukee and Sawyer, from John C. Ruttlinger at an indicated $75,000 and will build at once a three-story building from plans by Leo Steff & Co. to contain stores, bowling alleys and a billiard hall. The amusement features have been leased to Goldammer brothers, who now operate three amusement places on the northwest side, for fifteen years at a term rental reported to be $45,000.

According to Samuel B. Weinberger of M. H. Ficht & Co. broker in the deal, the building will be completed Sept. 1. A. Hollingshead & Co. have underwritten a $125,000 loan. The building will cost $175,000.

The Peoples Gas Light & Coke company has bought the 52x171 feet fifty-two foot north of Adams, under its Soul Mich. building, from Samuel D. Flood and other heirs of W. G. Comstock, for $122,222, thereby merging the fee and lease-hold.

Date Denies Building Story.

Edward A. Dato of Krenn & Dato denied the report that the Edie Rockefellers' Michigan home is planned as a eighteen-story building at the southwest corner of Michigan and Oak. The rumor apparently grew out of the sale of the fee to the Guardian Trust company of Cleveland and the taking back from that concern by the McCormick trust of a ninety-nine year lease on the property. Lease in the present building at that site run till 1932.

The lease taken back by the McCormick trust calls for an annual rental equivalent to 6% per cent of $700,000.

Howard Dunnington, Inc., who operates several men's hotels on the near west, have bought the "Co-Mor" apartment hotel at 6551 Woodlawn avenue, for 100x188, containing sixty-eight rooms, from Charles Rayborn for an indicated $140,000, subject to $100,000. They will operate it along its present lines.

MANUFACTURERS AND LEGISLATORS TO HOLD BANQUET

Manufacturers and the members of the state legislature will have an opportunity to get together and discuss mutual problems in a meeting being arranged at Springfield on April 27 by the Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

Senator Charles S. Deneen and John E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, will be the principal speakers at a dinner in the Elks club there.

"A number of important bills pending in the general assembly would have a serious effect on industry if adopted," said Secretary John M. Glenn. "Our members will have an opportunity to discuss these measures personally with the assemblymen."

BONES OF ANCIENT INDIANS FOUND IN KENTUCKY GRAVES

Lexington, Ky., April 7.—(By Associated Press)—Twenty-one skeletons of Indians who lived hundreds of years ago have been brought to Lexington from Mays Lick, Ky., where Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, Prof. W. S. Webb, and William J. Curtis of the University of Kentucky spent two days excavating.

In addition to the skeletons, shell and bone decorations such as have been found before were taken back. The graves were found in a cultivated field only a few feet beneath the surface. From the positions of the skeletons it was indicated that the bodies had been buried in a sitting position. Most of the graves contained two or three bodies.

Dr. Funkhouser explained the multiple graves by the fact that it was an ancient Indian custom, when a prominent chieftain died, to bury other members of the chief's family and bury them with their leader.

INHERITANCE TAX KEEPS MANY OUT OF STATE, CLAIM

Illinois holds no inducement for wealthy people to make this state their official residence because of the high inheritance tax, according to Stewart W. Purdy of the Central Trust company, who spoke before the American Business club yesterday at the Hotel Sherman. In fact, Mr. Purdy stated, many in this country purposely avoid residence in this state.

"Many owners of large estate establish a legal residence in Florida or Alabama because of the relatively low rates in force there," he said. "It is merely a business proposition with most people and does not necessarily make them tax dodgers."

Mr. Purdy cited one case of a woman with large holdings in Illinois, New York, and California, who finally selected New York as her legal residence, as taxes for the kind of property she owns are the lowest there.

Bill in Sweden Aims to End Labor Union Monopoly

STOCKHOLM, April 7.—(By the Associated Press)—Extension of the Swedish government's anti-trust control to include labor unions with monopolistic tendencies is urged in a bill just introduced in the riksdag by a conservative member. The bill is believed the outgrowth of activities of the labor unions during the recent lockout which made idle 130,000 workers. Refusing to declare a general strike as a counter measure, the unions stood firm and gained a compromise.

BULL SENTIMENT, SHORT COVERING ADVANCE GRAINS

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

The Chicago Board of Trade will close on Good Friday, April 10. The cotton markets will also be closed on that day and will re-open on Saturday.

Grain prices have been on the upturn for three days and there is a more confident feeling in the trade with an increased disposition to buy, as all buyers and sellers are the principal selling by profit taken. The price of yesterday was reached around the close with shorts the best buyers. Trade is looking for moderate setbacks and an irregular advance in prices following every good break.

A hardening tendency in the cash grain market, especially in wheat, with more interest shown in Kansas City and less pressure to sell hard wheat, received a good deal of attention. The grain situation in general is being taken freely, with reports that 1,000,000 bu have been bought by Italy, Germany and Holland, a factor in making the closing bourse.

Heavy buying of wheat, corn and oats for Omaha interests was a factor in absorbing the market offerings and strengthening values toward that city. The aggregate purchases were over 2,000,000 bushels, half of it being corn.

"Reports from the country are much improved since the rain," said N. B. Updike of Omaha. "Some of the dead wheat is coming to life. Nebraska can easily raise as much wheat as it did last year, if we get good weather. We are now on the market and entitled to around $1.00 for wheat in Chicago. I hope conditions in the foreign countries are such that the demand will keep it around that price. I am not bearish."

CASH GRAIN NEWS

While there were claims of around 1,000,000 bu Manitoba had been sold for export at the seaboard, the latest report from Winnipeg is that the total day's business at 400,000 bu to 500,000 bu. in Manitoba, but included some hard winter wheat and barely 100,000 bu to 200,000 bu.

Chicago handlers sold 60,000 bu wheat to exporters, with 45,000 bu wheat, 300,000 bu corn and 100,000 bu oats for the domestic trade. Deliveries of April contracts were 75,000 bu oats. At Minneapolis shipping 75,000 bu to 100,000 bu to 212,000 bu oats, while St. Louis 500,000 bu oats were sold and not previously reported. Milling oats of wheat at Kansas City were 150,000 bu.

No. 2 red winter wheat on track here sold 15¢/bushel over May, although the price was given as 15¢/bushel advance of 4¢/bushel over the nominal figure of 14¢/bushel. No. 2 hard was nominally 1¢/bushel over. Outside markets were 1¢/bushel higher, with a better demand.

Offerings of corn were small, with the basis nominally 4¢/bushel over May. No. 3 white brought 2¢/bushel over.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Tuesday: Wheat, 6 cars; corn, 75 cars; oats, 11 cars; barley, 18 cars.

Cabinet Decide
Ignore Defeat

BULLETIN.
Chicago Tribune Foreign News
PARIS, April 9 (3 a.m., Paris time).—M. Marcellin, defeated in the senate yesterday, held a cabinet meeting, in which he resigned. After several hours of discussion the cabinet induced him to abandon his intention and to fight the opposition to a finish on his proposal of an unguaranteed capital levy of 100 francs on French wealth and 100 francs in paper currency. He believed the situation of the country was most critical and the Radical Socialists admitted he was liable to be overthrown in forty-eight hours.

PARIS, April 9.—[By the Associated Press.]—For hours this evening the French cabinet was convinced that Premier Marcellin had decided that his government must fall, if fall it must, in preference to risking a vote of confidence on the financial question.

He raised the question of the budget in the senate on a different proposal of 100 francs ($5,000) than the one he had originally appropriated. The challenge in the senate, and when the senate gave him a majority of two votes, which became a majority of two votes when two senators abstained, he declared that their votes had been invalid. It was at once assumed that a vote of confidence was certain.

Revised Budget. M. Marcellin arrived in the senate yesterday, and when the finance committee opposed the cabinet's proposed appropriation of 100 francs for secondary educational scholarships, put the question of confidence, claiming that the finance committee had shown him marked hostility in the past two days.

The president of the finance committee replied that the committee was only seeking economies and economies, to whose disclosure the premier's words evidence had declared there was no finality in the finance committee. The vote of confidence was at once assumed that a vote of confidence was certain.

Cabinet Together. The Socialist leaders, Pierre Benoist, Paul Bocourt, and Leon Blum, conferred with M. Marcellin at the cabinet's meeting at 9:40 p. m.

At 10:45 p. m., with the cabinet in session, it was reported that a majority of the members had voted in favor of the program, and that the ministry had been formally disapproved by the National Assembly.

Revised Budget. M. Marcellin arrived in the senate yesterday, and when the finance committee opposed the cabinet's proposed appropriation of 100 francs for secondary educational scholarships, put the question of confidence, claiming that the finance committee had shown him marked hostility in the past two days.
